USPG Launches Anglican Communion Day of Prayer

Christians around the world are preparing to unite in a Day of Prayer at the end of November. The Anglican Communion Day of Prayer, co-ordinated by USPG, will take place on 30 November 2021. The event will be made up of 24 consecutive hours of prayer, led by Christians all over the world. So far, more than half of the 42 provinces in the Anglican Communion have signed up to this initiative with more expected to join. The event also has the support of the Anglican Communion Office and several Anglican mission agencies. USPG General Secretary, Rev'd Duncan Dormor, said, 'We believe this is the first Global Day of Prayer of its kind and are very excited about the response we are receiving from around the world.'
